A. Project Description

1. Background. This consultancy is part of the project, "Forest Finance and Investment Incubator" (hereinafter, "FFII"), which aims to catalyze private sector financing of national and sub-national climate strategies in the forestry, agriculture, and land-use sectors. FFII is led by Conservation International (CI), in collaboration with the Global Green Growth Institute (GGGI) under a three-year cooperative agreement with the US Department of State (DOS).

Considering that deforestation is the main source of greenhouse gas (GHG) emissions in Peru, most national mitigation efforts have focused on the land use, land use change and forestry (LULUCF) sector. The private sector can play an important role in reducing deforestation by increasing the supply and demand of legally harvested wood, improving the productivity of coffee and cocoa on lands already cleared, and integrating forestry elements in agricultural practices, among other activities, such as forest restoration and the collection of non-timber forest products. The FFII project consists of three stages. The first consisted of identifying the enabling conditions that currently limit investment, as well as key investment opportunities. The second is focused on the development of Finance and Investment Plans (FIPs) that provide roadmaps to channel capital towards projects aligned with public policies on climate change and financing, as well as an Action Plan to address the enabling conditions to enhance investments on key drivers of GHG emissions. The third stage will facilitate the mobilization of specific flows of capital to the identified investment projects.

2. Nature of the Consultancy

The Sierra or Andean Region begins 500m above sea level, where the Andean Mountains rise to the east of the coast, reaching the high Andean zone, above 4000m above sea level. The Andean forests were heavily cleared to expand the agricultural frontier for firewood and charcoal production to provide fuel for the extensive mining from pre-colonial times to the present. However, there are still remnants of large tracts of quinual (Polylepis spp.) and colle (Buddleia spp.) forests, which play an important role in protecting the upper watersheds and the water cycles.

The most important Andean forests are scattered throughout the highlands and the driest are located in the valleys of the Marañón (Ancash, La Libertad, Cajamarca and Amazonas), Huancabamba (Piura), Chamaya (Cajamarca), Pampas (Apurímac and Ayacucho) and Pachachaca and Abancay (Apurímac). The Andean forests are found at high altitudes, where the ecosystems, depending on local humidity conditions, alternate between formations of bofedales, páramo (jalca in northern Peru), or punas or pajonales.

To contribute the improvement of living conditions of the Peruvian Andes population, the FFII project will develop a Finance and Investment Plan (FIP) that helps identify and efficiently guide financing to promote sustainable business models for low-emission goods and services and increase their competitiveness. The FIP will include the identification of adequate financing and/or investment opportunities, analysis of prospective capitalization models and existing sources of financing, as well as the identification of key value chain actors, investment risks, and an analysis of the investment portfolio to prioritize the most viable opportunities.

B. Consultancy Objectives

1. General. Lead the development of the Action Plan and the Finance and Investment Plan, which will address enabling conditions and next steps to mobilize project financing tailored to specific opportunities with partners.

2. Specific

- Prepare a work plan and methodology for the Finance and Investment Plan, considering the framework of national and regional policies.
- Prepare and design an FIP for key productive activities related to nature-based solutions in the Andean ecosystem.
- Lead, in close coordination with CI, and, as appropriate, with the relevant authorities, workshops to socialize and validate the FIP prepared with key stakeholders identified at the national and regional levels, and across the public and private sectors and civil society.

C. Scope of Activities; Key Tasks & Deliverables

The consulting team must propose priority areas of intervention within the Peruvian Andes, creating the most cost-effective investment opportunities to incentivize 1) reductions in deforestation, 2) reforestation and/or forest and ecosystem restoration, and 3) reduced GHG emissions and/or enhanced carbon sinks.

1. Key Tasks & Activities.

- Coordinate closely with the CI-Peru technical team and key partners in the Government of Peru.
- Survey and analyze information from primary or secondary sources related to the investment opportunities to determine the favorable enabling conditions to promote investments and understand sustainability criteria for each one. Key sources should include regional planning instruments or other related sources (studies, assessments, plans, policies, etc.)
- Develop eligibility criteria and then apply them to identify the Andean sub-regions that have the most favorable investment conditions.
- According to the prioritized Andean sub-regions:
  - Identify and characterize key stakeholders that should be involved in the working groups to develop the FIP, classifying them according to their areas of interest and possible participation level.
  - For each sub-region, determine the main bottlenecks hindering sustainable investment opportunities and possible solutions.
- Identify the institutional arrangements, regulatory gaps, and other relevant limitations to sustainable investment development, as well as the possible solutions and/or alternatives to mitigate their negative effects.
- Identify possible synergies and trade-offs between identified investment opportunities.
  - Identify financing and/or investment opportunities, prospective capitalization models, and existing funding sources.
    - Detail market trends for selected private financial instruments (current demand, focus areas, future trends, COVID emergency impacts).
    - For public financing options, detail the focus of programs, projects, financing trends and opportunities to link public and private options to reduce risks and lower transaction costs for private investment.
- Validate if the identified investment opportunities are the most suitable for including in an FIP. Otherwise, identify more suitable complementary investments that allow for generating better opportunities.
- Prepare a work plan to develop an FIP covering each of the identified opportunities, with a comprehensive approach that promotes synergies and complementarity between investment opportunities in the prioritized geographic areas. The work plan should include the methodology for preparing the FIP, and indicate priority by region, productive activity, or a combination of factors.
- Work with key identified stakeholders to prepare an FIP covering each productive activity.
- Develop an investment risk assessment and investment portfolio analysis that identifies the best investment opportunities.
- Prepare a plan to validate the FIP with key stakeholders.
- Carry out and lead, in close collaboration with CI-Peru and the relevant authorities, validation workshops for the FIP.
- Systematize observations and comments on the FIP collected during the validation workshops.
- Prepare the final version of the FIP.
- Synthesize observations gathered during the development of the products generated in this consultancy.

If CI terminates this Agreement due to a material breach by Service Provider or due to the Service Provider’s failure to perform any of the Services to CI’s satisfaction, CI may withhold payment for any such unsatisfactory Services until such Services are performed to CI’s satisfaction.
8. Indemnification. Service Provider hereby covenants and agrees to indemnify CI and the Funding Source, and to defend and hold CI and the Funding Source harmless from and against any and all liabilities, damages, costs and expenses (including reasonable attorney’s fees) arising out of or resulting from any claim, action or other proceeding (including any proceeding by any of Service Provider’s employees, agents or contractors) related to or arising out of the performance of the Services under this Agreement.

Upon CI’s request and at its expense, Service Provider agrees to cooperate with and assist CI and US DOS in perfecting their rights in and to the Works, including executing appropriate documents.

To the extent that the Works contain any material to which Service Provider does not have the right to grant such license, Provider will assume responsibility for obtaining all necessary rights for use, reproduction, translation, publication and disposition of that material by CI and US DOS.
